Transforming communities,

Your right to a good life

This event is organised by the learning disability advisers from NHS England and the Transforming Care empowerment steering group, which is supported by the Local Government Association.

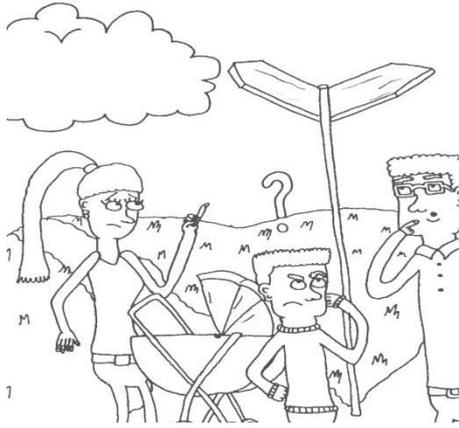

The event is about some of the work of the Transforming Care programme and what this means for people with a learning disability, autism or both and their families. It is about people's rights and empowering people and families to get a good life in their local communities, for years to come.

There will be talks, workshops, information and rooms where you can chill out for a while.

Aims of the day

- Empower people to know about their rights
- Share good examples of projects and people living better lives
- Help make sure the work keeps happening, even after the Transforming Care programme finishes
- Share information and resources
